Community Mediation Mini-grant Program

Program Overview

The JAMS Foundation and the National Association for Community Mediation (NAFCM) are pleased to announce the Community Mediation Mini-Grant Program ("Program"). The purpose of the Program is to fund the development and refinement of innovative and emerging community mediation services that can be replicated by community mediation programs throughout the country as a path for sustainability and growth for the field of community mediation.

Service models will be developed and locally implemented over a two-year period by a working group consisting of mini-grant recipients ("grantee working groups"). These grantee working groups will serve as incubators for innovation through structured ongoing peer contact supervised by NAFCM. The grantee working groups will also aid in the development of “good practices” and written materials that will be shared with community mediation centers and mediators around the country. By distributing these materials, sharing programmatic resources, providing training, and developing national partnerships NAFCM will support the replication of service models and ensure the Program’s impact on a national level.

2014 Request for Proposals Overview

In 2014 the Program is seeking proposals from organizations, as defined below, wishing to develop services for veterans and their military families. Services for veterans and military families was selected as the focus of the Program for 2014 to assist community mediation centers in effectively serving the unique issues that exist for veterans and family members at all stages of their service – from pre-deployment to post-service retirement or discharge for a wide range of issues. The last census reported that there are over 21 million veterans living in the US. The challenge presented to mediation centers which are not familiar with the culture or experiences of military personnel can diminish the efficacy of the compassionate services offered by the centers. In response to this reality, funding for this two-year grant cycle will be dedicated to develop mediation services that are customized to serve veterans and their military families. Programs selected will use dialogue-based processes and skill-development trainings to assist veterans and their military families in making important life decisions, planning, and addressing conflict constructively and strengthening understanding and communication.

Mini-grants of $12,000 a year will be awarded to up to five organizations who will comprise the grantee working group focusing on services for veterans and military families. Grants will be awarded in September 2014 for an initial twelve-month funding period and are renewable for an additional year of funding by the mutual agreement of the mini-grant recipient and NAFCM. Funding is intended primarily for staff time dedicated to program development activities.

Eligible organizations include nonprofit 501(c)3 organizations, educational institutions, and public agencies which meet, or are working toward meeting, NAFCM’s characteristics of a community mediation center:

1. A private non-profit or public agency or program thereof, with mediators, staff and governing/advisory board representative of the diversity of the community served.
2. The use of trained community volunteers as providers of mediation services; the practice of mediation is open to all persons.
3. Providing direct access to the public through self-referral and striving to reduce barriers to service including physical, linguistic, cultural, programmatic and economic.
4. Providing service to clients regardless of their ability to pay.

5. Providing service and hiring without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, age, disabilities, national origin, marital status, personal appearance, gender orientation, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, source of income.

6. Providing a forum for dispute resolution at the earliest stage of conflict.

7. Providing an alternative to the judicial system at any stage of a conflict.

8. Initiating, facilitating and educating for collaborative community relationships to effect positive systemic change.

9. Engaging in public awareness and educational activities about the values and practices of mediation

2014 Submission Documentation

The deadline for proposals is July 9th, 2014. All proposals will be rated and viewed in a merit-based competitive process and grantees will be announced in August 2014.

NAFCM’s goal is to review all applications submitted for grant funding. However, this goal must be balanced against NAFCM’s obligation to ensure equitable treatment of applications. For this reason, NAFCM has established certain formatting requirements for its applications. If you do not adhere to these requirements, your application will be screened out and will not be considered for funding.

- Applications must be received by July 9th as detailed herein
- Information provided must be sufficient for review.
- Text must be legible. Pages must be typed in black ink, single-spaced, using a font of Times New Roman 12, with all margins (left, right, top, bottom) at least one inch each. For applications submitted via hard copy, tables may be included using a font of Times New Roman 10 and may have a landscape orientation, if desired. The page limit of 14 pages cannot be exceeded.

To facilitate review of your application, follow these additional guidelines. Failure to adhere to the following guidelines will not, in itself, result in your application being screened out. However, the information provided in your application must be sufficient for review. Following these guidelines will help ensure your application is complete, and will assist in the review of your application.

- The required application components should be submitted in the order described herein
- Pages should be typed single-spaced in black ink with one column per page.
- Pages should be numbered consecutively from beginning to end, so that information can be located easily during review of the application (hand write page numbers if necessary). Attachments should be labeled and separated from the Project Narrative and Budget Narrative, and the pages should be numbered to continue the sequence.

Questions regarding this Program and the RFP can be directed to Matt Phillips (Mphillips@nafcm.org).
