Community Mediation Mini-Grant Program

Program Overview

The JAMS Foundation and the National Association for Community Mediation (NAFCM) are pleased to announce the second Community Mediation Mini-Grant Program ("Program"). The purpose of the Program is to fund the development and refinement of innovative and emerging community mediation center services which will strengthen the connection between law enforcement personnel and the communities they serve. These services should be able to be replicated by community mediators throughout the country as a path for sustainability and growth for the field of community mediation as well as to inform the development of training, evidence-based strategies, policy and research.

The Mini-Grant program, anchored by the learning community, is designed to encourage creativity and variation based on research. Service models will be developed and locally implemented over a two-year period by Mini-Grant recipients ("learning community"). This learning community will serve as an incubator for innovation through structured ongoing peer contact facilitated by NAFCM aiding in the development of "good practices" and written materials that will be shared with community mediation centers and mediators around the country. By distributing these materials, sharing programmatic resources, providing training, and developing national partnerships NAFCM will support the replication of these service models and ensure the Program’s impact on a national level.

2015 Request for Proposals Overview

The 2015 Program seeks proposals from Community Mediation Centers wishing to enhance or expand services that target supporting policing which treats people with dignity and respect, is neutral and transparent in decision-making and conveys trustworthy motives. Each applicant will be asked to work to embed one of the following three options during the Program funding period as described herein:

Procedural Justice: Law enforcement / resident mediation facilitated by community mediation centers that creates a safe space for conversations between the community and law enforcement and that allows them to address historic tensions, grievances and misconceptions; an exchange of knowledge and held truths between them and focused on transformation, restoration and engagement. Interim Report of the President’s Task Force on 21st Century Policing. Recommendations; 1.1, 1.5, 1.51, 4.1, 4.4.2, 4.5, 4.5.1.

Reconciliation: Individual law enforcement / resident mediations facilitated by community mediation centers focused on creating trust, transparency and the ability to hear each other leading to an increased appreciation of each other as individuals and to develop some common places of appreciation and acceptance of each other, which could serve as a part of the civilian review process for non-life threatening claims of improper action or inaction. Interim Report of the President’s Task Force on 21st Century Policing. Recommendations; 1.2, 4.1.1.

Implicit Bias: Increase the number of law enforcement personnel proficient in the use of mediation skills focused on enhancing individual policing, recognizing learned biases that may interfere with their ability to create positive community relations, and enhancing their ability to deescalate situations and demonstrate cultural awareness that increases a sense of fairness through training by and relationship building with the Community Mediation Centers within their districts. Interim Report of the President’s Task Force on 21st Century Policing. Pillar One, Recommendations; 1.3, 1.6, 4.2, 4.4.1; 5.1.

Mini-Grants of $12,000 a year will be awarded to up to four organizations to be used as incentive funds to support the expanded work. These four organizations will comprise the grantees’ learning community focusing on services that support strengthening law enforcement and community relations. Grants will be awarded in August 2015 for an initial twelve-month funding period and are renewable for an additional year of funding by the mutual agreement of the Mini-Grant recipient and NAFCM.
